

Information on data protection

Thank you very much for visiting our website. In accordance with the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and the German Federal Data Protection Act (BDSG), we want to inform you of the measures our company has taken to ensure the greatest possible protection of your personal data when you visit our website.

We begin with the most important information. On our website, we provide you with organizational information on the congress and inform you about the scientific programme, the industry participation and more congress related topics. This information is completely accessible to you without you having to state or leave behind any of your personal data.

Other functions such as (for example) a prepared form that you can use to contact us directly require that you provide us with personal information on a case-by-case basis. Also in these cases, you can trust us to process this information in accordance with the legal requirements. In particular, we are legally required to only process your data for the agreed purpose (e.g. making contact, transmission of documents, etc.). In every case, we will store your data for only as long as needed for the purpose of processing or as legally required. We review the necessity of data storage once a year and fulfill the legal archiving obligations in this case as well.

We will be glad to tell you which of your personal data is stored with EUROKONGRESS. At your request, we will update or even erase this data unless legal requirements prevent us from doing so.

Personal data is transferred to third parties only to the extent that this is required to fulfill our contractual or legal obligations.

Encryption

To protect the security of your data during transmission, we employ state-of-the-art encryption methods (e.g. SSL) via HTTPS.

Cookies

Cookies are small files, which are stored on your computer and serve to improve the usability of this website only.

You can adjust your browser settings to prevent cookies from being saved, but if you do so, you may not be able to use the full scope of functions that this website offers.

Links to social networks

Certain links on our website can take you to the facebook account of the ESGE society. You can recognize these links by the logos of these providers.

We ourselves collect no personal data by way of social plug-ins.

On the other hand, we have no way of influencing any data that is collected or processed by each provider using an activated plug-in. It can be assumed that IP addresses and device-related information is collected and used when users establish a direct connection to the above-mentioned services. It is also possible that the service providers will attempt to store cookies on the user's computer. Please refer to the data protection notices of each service provider to find out which data is stored and how it is used.
